WEST VIRGINIA STATE COLLEGE

The second Morrill Act of 1890 was intended to make available to black citizens training in agriculture and mechanic arts. Like other states that maintained segregated educational systems, West Virginia responded on March 17, 1891 by enacting legislation to create a special land grant institution for blacks. To this end federal funds provided $3,000 for faculty salaries, and the West Virginia Legislature appropriated $10,000 to purchase a farm and build a school building upon it. The institution was founded as the West Virginia Colored Institute. In 1915 the name was changed to the West Virginia Collegiate Institute, and its present name was assumed in 1929.

From its beginnings until 1915 the institution offered the equivalent of a high school education with a curriculum devoted primarily to agriculture, trades and teacher education. In 1915 the school was given the authority to award college degrees that included instruction in mathematics, chemistry, French and English. The first college degrees were awarded in 1919.

Beginning in 1919 the College turned increasingly to the development of a strong academic curriculum with emphasis upon academic excellence. First of America's Negro land grant colleges to earn accreditation, it has the distinction of having the longest continuing accreditation in the North Central Association of the public four year institutions in West Virginia.

The 1954 Brown v the Board of Education United States Supreme Court decision had an immediate and dramatic impact on West Virginia State College. Within two years, the institution was transformed from a small black College to a racially integrated one. Since that time, program offerings have expanded and new ones developed as the College keeps pace with the demands of students and the needs of the larger community. From a modest beginning with forty students, West Virginia State College has emerged into a multi-purpose institution which serves a diverse student body which is multiracial and multicultural. From a small tract of land and a building, the College has developed into a multi-million dollar educational complex.

GREETINGS from:
The National "W" Club President

The Officers and Members of the National W-Club Association take great pleasure in welcoming you to this Annual West Virginia State College Sports Hall of Fame Induction Ceremony.

This Eleventh Induction Class, like the ten previously enshrined, is outstanding. They were chosen with the able assistance of Alumni Chapters and members of the Sports Hall of Fame. Their selection reflects achievements and motivating influences experienced during Secondary and Collegiate training.

For almost a century, West Virginia State College has been an academic booster for excellence to thousands of outstanding alumni who strive for the betterment of humanity throughout the world. We cannot chronicle how extensive these accomplishments are, but it is worthy for all of us to reflect upon the past and the present.

Our four point agenda continues to be effective. The scholarship program was launched last year, and we are informed that the recipients are "student-athletes in the truest sense". Their academic averages are acceptable and respectful. Other activities were highlighted in the Annual Report to the Office of Alumni Affairs of West Virginia State College.

We thank you for supporting our Fund Raising Drives for scholarships and auxiliary needs.

EVERETT G. CRAWFORD
Class of 1927

Everett Garfield Crawford was born in Ballard, Monroe County, West Virginia on September 17, 1903. The family moved to Hinton, Summers County, West Virginia when he was very young. That is where he grew up, and attended public school. He graduated from Lincoln High School in 1923 and was in the first high school graduating class.

He completed his undergraduate work at West Virginia State College in 1927 where he received the B.S. degree. He lettered in football for three years at State. He completed the M.S. degree in 1946 at Ohio State University, Columbus, Ohio.

His first teaching position was in Fairmont, West Virginia, where he served as teacher and coach. He was employed there five years.

In 1942 he returned to Hinton, and was employed as a math teacher at Lincoln High School. That year he shared the coaching assignment with John Robinson, another teacher at the school.

In 1943, he was made head football and basketball coach. He served the school in that capacity for the next 23 years; during that tenure he was also appointed and served 18 years as principal of Lincoln High School.

Lincoln High School was closed in the spring of 1961 due to integration. Mr. Crawford was transferred to Hinton High School as a math teacher that fall. He retired from teaching in June of 1969 at the age of 65, having completed 41 years in the school system.

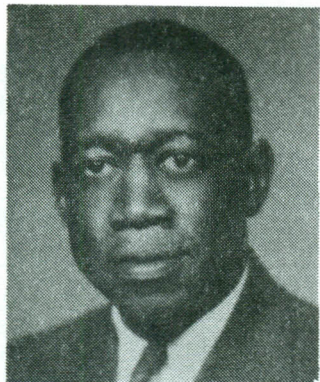

During Mr. Crawford's 23 years of coaching, he fielded some excellent teams in both basketball and football. Although Lincoln High School was small in comparison with some of the other high schools they played, his team always gave a good account of themselves. He had a reputation of being one of the most outstanding and successful coaches in the state.

During his coaching career several of his teams were regional champions in basketball and football and made it to the state tournament. Several of his players made the All-Regional and All-State teams, and played in the East-West All-Star Game. Many of Lincoln's graduates went on to play basketball and football in college. One or two of his former players went into the professional ranks in football.

He has served 30 years as trustee of the Camon Baptist Church, 40 years as superintendent of the Sunday School, president of the Lion's Club, and a member of the Masonic Lodge. His two sons attended and graduated from West Virginia State College.

We live in deeds, not years
In thoughts, not breaths
In feelings: not figures on a dial
We should count time by heart-throbs,

WHAT IS WEST VIRGINIA STATE COLLEGE?

What is West Virginia State College? It is all of us who believe in it—who absent or present, work in it and wish it well. Its constituency is the living and dead and from them the college enjoys an unrestrained loyalty and willing service.

President John W. Davis 1932

ALMA MATER
OF WEST VIRGINIA STATE COLLEGE

ERNEST WADE '30

MARTHA SPENCER '31

There is a place we love so dear—
Its name we'll ever praise and revere
'Tis West Virginia State we love—
Just one more step from there is Heav'n above.

REFRAIN:

West Virginia's praise we'll sing—
Lift our voices 'till heavens ring—
As we gaily march along—
We'll sing a song—
For Alma Mater
How we love her
Pride of all our loyal hearts—
From her we will never part—
Thoughts of thee will ne'er be few
Alma Mater we love you.

We'll love her more as days go by,
And send her praises to the sky;
To place her over all the rest,
And keep her e'er the dearest and the best.

Shadowed 'neath a deep blue sky;
Is STATE for whom we'll live and we'll die—
Arise! O men of God and sing;
We're loyal, and to her we'll always cling.
